Who's Tracking You?

The Internet can be a wonderful piece of technology. Having information at your fingertips is especially handy in certain situations. We bought a storm door for our front entrance. We watched a video on our iPad from the company that manufactured our storm door on how to install the door. We could pause the video, rewind, and fast forward through any steps so we could be as careful as possible. It was a handy tool to have. There is a catch. The storm door company puts something called a "cookie" on the iPad. These "cookies" are actually "trackers." This storm door company and all the other companies I visit on the Internet can track me wherever I go. And they can sell that data to other companies.

Do you know that in under one second a company can purchase advertising? These "trackers" send data about where you go on the Internet so that they can gather information about what interests you. Those companies can purchase advertisements that are geared to your interests and place those advertisements on any website where you happen to go in an instant. You may have noticed that if you purchase a product on the Internet, you will see that company's advertisements on numerous other websites you visit that day. Yes, you are being tracked if you are on the Internet.

You can take steps to stop this tracking (you will have to look that up for yourself). I'm sure Satan has been tracking us as well. I'm pretty sure he can place temptations in our way that interest us. I'm also sure that God knows where we are and what we are doing 24/7. Not everyone is a fan of an "all seeing" Internet. But we should be a fan of an "all seeing" God. "Lead us not into temptation" (Matthew 6:13) should be on our lips every day.
